Class Time: Tuesdays and Thursdays, 12:30 - 13:45 (Baldwin Hall 307)
Office Hours: Tuesdays 2:30-3:30pm or by appointment (322 Candler Hall)

Course Overview

This course introduces to students institutions, reform processes and major events in Chinese political life under the communists since 1949, with special focus on the reform era since 1978. In particular, it will walk students through the economic and political development in China—their causes, patterns, consequences, and implications—in a broader context of transition from socialism. The course will apply concepts and theories in comparative politics in analyzing Chinese politics. By taking this class, students are expected to gain substantial knowledge about contemporary Chinese politics and acquire some basic ability to apply such knowledge to relate to and analyze current affairs concerning China.

Suggested Readings for Students without prior knowledge about China

Saich, Tony 2015. Governance and Politics of China. 4th Edition. Macmillan.

Course Requirements and Grading Criteria

Attendance (10%) One absence is allowed for any reason. Additional absences will need legitimate reasons and documentation (ex. doctor's note). Please report to the instructor if you are late. Failing to do so may result in absence in record not disputable.

Participation (20%) Read and reflect upon assigned readings before coming to class. Besides engaging in class discussion actively, you will also do two mini presentations on selected dates. You shall present the most important points in the readings in your own words and clarify them with original examples if necessary. The presentation shall be strictly 10 minutes or shorter as a group.

Mid-term (25%) The exam will be a take-home open book essay question. It will be based on the readings, lectures and discussion. Detailed instructions will be announced before the exams.

¹ The syllabus is a general plan for the course; updates and revisions may be necessary.

Final Paper (45%; 5% for submitting the topics timely; 40% for the paper) You will select your topics with the instructor's guidance. Only two restrictions on topics: (1) It must be related to China; (2) It must be empirical. The end product shall be a 15-page paper. Please report to the instructor by March 1st a few potential topics, with research question, and potential data sources. You are expected to make an argument and try to convince readers with your analysis. Additional attention shall be paid to organization of the paper, the coherence of the analysis and the elaboration of your argument. You have to cite sources properly and avoid grammatical errors. You are expected to present your research project at the end of the semester on a date that you selected.

March 1st Report to Instructor about the topics of your research paper

May 3rd Research Paper due

Grade Dispute:

If you have any questions about your exam grade, you shall report to the instructor within one week from the time you receive the grade. You need to present a written appeal explaining why you think your grade should be changed. Please also bear in mind that disputing grade may end up with higher, lower or no change in your grade.

Academic Honesty:

As a University of Georgia student, you have agreed to abide by the University's academic honesty policy, "A Culture of Honesty," and the Student Honor Code. All academic work must meet the standards described in "A Culture of Honesty" found at: www.uga.edu/honesty. Lack of knowledge of the academic honesty policy is not a reasonable explanation for a violation. Questions related to course assignments and the academic honesty policy should be directed to the instructor.
